Saltich becomes third county clerk candidate

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Debbie Saltich — carrying the endorsement of the Granite City Democratic precinct committeemen — announced Monday that she will seek nomination for Madison County clerk in the March Primary.

Saltich, 38, of Granite City became the third announced Democratic candidate for the office now held by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Bowles, D-Edwardsville, has announced she will run for the State Senate seat being vacated by the retiring Sen. Sam

Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville.

Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols and Stephanie Robbins, an Edwardsville attorney, have also picked up petitions to run for county clerk.

Saltich said her proven administrative skills and work on all levels of government would be a plus in running the clerk's office.

She is currently the office manager and staff assistant in the Madison County office of U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-12th District, a position she has held since 1989.

2 die in accident Crash occurs on I-270 bridge

A head-on collision on the Interstate 270 bridge over the Mississippi River left an Edwardsville woman and her 14-year-old daughter dead.

Gan R. Cho, 48, and her daughter, Gina, were pronounced dead at the scene of the accident Saturday, according to State Police.

The women lived in the 100 block of Ginger Dale Avenue in Edwardsville. Gan R. Cho and her husband, Doo Chil Cho, operated the En Vogue clothing store in St. Louis.

Their daughter, Gina Cho, was a freshman at Edwardsville High School.

Gan R. Cho was driving and her daughter was a passenger when the accident occurred at 8:50 p.m. during a thunderstorm.

Cho's eastbound car hit a large pool of water on the highway and Cho lost control, according to police. Her car crossed the median and collided with a tractor-trailer rig driven by Theodore J. Miller of Duluth, Minn.

Miller was treated for scrapes and bruises at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Visitation for both mother and daughter will be from 4 to 9 p.m. today at Weber Funeral Home in Edwardsville. Services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Leaf vacuum ends burning in Madison

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

As tree leaves begin to fall this year, there will be something missing in Madison — the smell of burning leaves.

Using a grant from the Madison County Environmental Committee, the city has purchased a leaf vacuum that will go into use this year.

Leaf burning in populated areas was banned by the state several years ago, but Madison traditionally allowed restricted burning during the fall. One of the conditions of the grant was that the city ban leaf burning.

Street Superintendent Robbie Robbins said the city is putting together a flier outlining how residents should prepare their leaves for pickup and a schedule for picking up leaves throughout the city.

At the Oct. 12 City Council meeting, the aldermen agreed to handle the distribution of the fliers in their ward.

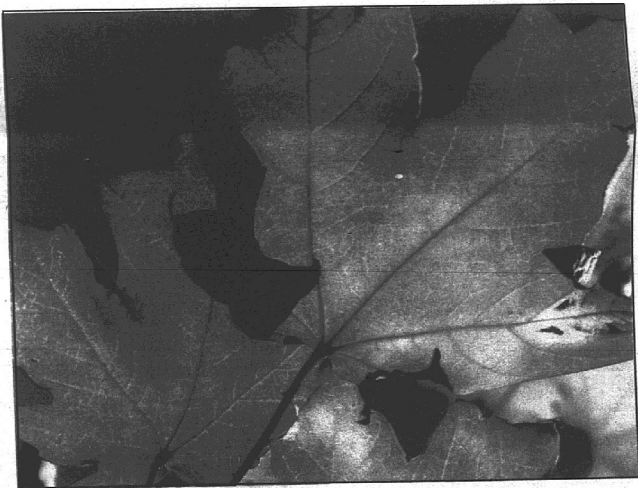

Robbins said that, in most places in Madison, there is room to pile the leaves between the street curb and sidewalk for pickup.

In areas where there is not room, the leaves will be placed on the street, he said.

Because the vacuum has blades that mulch the leaves, Robbins said it is very important that only leaves be put in the piles.

Alderman John Hamm said that, in his neighborhood, there are several little children who like to hide in the leaf piles and "it scares me to death to think what might happen" if children had hidden in a pile when the vacuum comes.

Robbins said the street department will have a crew going in front of the vacuum to check the piles for foreign objects that may damage the mulching blades and, now that it was pointed out, children.

On Monday, Robbins said a starting date for the leaf pickup has not been set, but it would be as soon as the leaves really begin falling.

Although leaves will be picked up at the curb, Robbins said residents may still bag their leaves in biodegradable bags and the city will pick those up, as usual, in the alleys.

County looks at freeze on spending

Madison County Board Finance Committee members are in a showdown to see who can be the biggest tightwad without angering voters or fellow elected officials.

"In order for us to be fiscally responsible we have to do this," board member Rudy Papa of Bethalto said as the five-man committee began a four-hour session last Thursday to craft a $20.4 million budget for fiscal year 1994.

The new fiscal year begins Dec. 1.

The committee, which goes into overtime every October to hammer out a budget proposal, has an especially tough task this year because of a cash crunch that threatens to drain the county's $10 million reserve fund within a few years.

Declining income tax surcharge revenue, a $1.1 million detention home renovation and employee raises are among the factors worrying board members and county financial advisers.

On Thursday, committee members mapped out a proposal that would impose strict spending limits on the county for the next four years, including a total spending freeze in fiscal 1994 and increases of only $100,000 a year in 1995 and 1997.

Under that plan, which is expected to undergo additional modifications this week, the county would have to dip into the reserve fund over the next three years to pay its bills but would be in the black again in 1997 to the tune of $1,800.

In addition, the reserve fund would not drop below the $6 million mark, enabling officials to keep enough cash on hand to cover three months of operating expenses in case of an emergency.

Old Newsboys volunteers' sign-up deadline is Friday

Those who have what it takes to be an Old Newsboys Day volunteer need to sign up by Friday.

Old Newsboys Day volunteers need to be willing to get up at the crack of dawn on Nov. 16, don a bright orange apron, brave inclement weather and stand on a street corner selling special edition Suburban Journals.

All the money collected is distributed to local children's agencies. Since the Old Newsboys Day fund drive began in 1957, more than $5 million has been distributed to needy children.

Veteran Old Newsboys Day volunteers already have claimed their corners. However, there still are many prime spots available for new volunteers. The recent floods have created a high demand for Old Newsboys Day grants. To meet this demand, no corner can be left uncovered.

Individuals and groups are encouraged to join their friends and neighbors as Old Newsboys Day volunteers. Those desiring to become Old Newsboys Day volunteers for a day should send their name, address and daytime telephone number to: Suburban Journals, Old Newsboys Day, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo., 63131. Also include the street corner preferred and, if a group is applying, the number of people in the group.

Attorney charged with DUI

An Alton lawyer recently acquitted of drug charges was arrested for driving under the influence after an accident at Alton Square Mall Drive and Homer Adams Parkway.

Gerald Bassett, 41, who gave an address in the 4700 block of North Alby Street, was charged with driving under the influence, driving with no liability insurance, improper passing on the shoulder, disobeying a traffic control device, having faulty brakes and driving with a suspended license at 3:40 p.m. Friday.

Bassett was released Saturday morning on his own recognizance under an order issued by Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner.

Reports said Bassett's car hit another vehicle when he ran a red light while driving on Homer Adams. Bassett told police his brakes failed.

No one was injured. The reports also said he failed field sobriety tests and refused to take a breath-analysis test.

The lawyer was acquitted of unlawful possession of heroin and a hypodermic needle in June.

Bassett was arrested on those charges Feb. 15 after Madison County sheriff's deputies pulled him over for speeding on Illinois Route 3 near Hartford.

Deputies found a pack of generic cigarettes with eight capsules tucked inside the cigarette wrapper and a bag of candy containing two syringes.

During the trial, Bassett, who defended himself, conceded he had used heroin and cocaine several hours before he was arrested.

But he said the drugs and syringes found in the car were left by friends who had used the car.

He also told jurors he was in a substance abuse treatment program and had given up drugs.

Study sought on flood control in St. Clair County

St. Clair County's flood control system of waterways, drainage ditches and basins will be studied over the next two years if a plan approved by the county's planning committee last week gets support.

The Environment Committee will discuss the issue at a 7:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday on the fifth floor of the courthouse. The committee will then make a recommendation to the County Board to fund the study.

Five area creeks, Richland, Little Cane, Schoenberger, Powder Mill and Ogles have been placed at the top of a priority list for the study, said County Board member Wade Brunsman, chairman of the environment committee.

The study, which is expected to cost $100,000 a year, would get underway in January.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, which would conduct the study, also would help the county apply for federal money to make any necessary improvements to the system, Brunsman said.

Burpo may get nine separate trials

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Dr. Carl Burpo could have nine separate trials on sexual abuse charges if his attorney has his way.

Associate Judge James M. Radcliffe agreed to separate the 11 remaining misdemeanor charges against Burpo to the nine victims.

Assistant state's attorney Dennis Hatch said he was not opposed to the plan.

However, he did ask the judge to delay any trials against the doctor until the Illinois Supreme Court decides if seven more serious sexual assault charges should be reinstated.

Hatch argued that he would lose the chance to prosecute the doctor on the more serious charges if the doctor is acquitted on the lesser charges.

"Our argument is that the conduct (from the misdemeanors and felonies) is the same. With out knowing what the (Supreme Court) ruling is going to be on the charges, I don't see how we can go on with the misdemeanor cases," he said.

Radcliffe dismissed the felony charges against the doctor last month, saying state statutes are not clear on what constitutes "sexual penetration" by a gynecologist.

Both Hatch and defense attorney Clyde Kuehn were allowed to submit further argument on why the trial should be delayed before Radcliffe makes a decision.

The 71-year-old doctor was charged in 1992 with 21 counts of sexual abuse and assault. He has pleaded not guilty on all counts.

He also was charged in September with seven counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance. He allegedly prescribed addictive drugs to several female patients when they had previous addiction problems.

Burpo pleaded not guilty to those charges as well and was restricted from prescribing certain medications.

Man gets five years for role in killing

A 20-year-old man was sentenced Thursday to five years in jail for his part in the death of Bronx Zoo drummer Angelo Torres last year.

Delando Bell of East St. Louis pleaded guilty in August to a second charge of aggravated kidnapping, was dismissed in exchange for the plea.

Circuit Judge Michael O'Malley said he would recommend that Bell be sent to the state's impact incarceration (boot camp) program.

Bell followed several other persons as they took the 20-year-old Torres out to a deserted road outside Centerville on Nov. 13, where Alphonso "Capone" Fuller shot Torres and left him to die.

The dispute apparently erupted when Torres confronted Fuller's girlfriend and cursed her. As Torres tried to leave the scene, Fuller and several other men stopped him, placed him in the trunk of the car and went to Fuller's house. When Fuller returned, the group then went to the road in Centerville.

Defense attorney Brian Trentman said Bell's role in the incident was minor in that he took Fuller away from the scene of the crime in his car. However, he said Bell had testified against Fuller, who was sentenced last month to 60 years in prison.

"These type of activities are more easily done when it's a group of people than one," O'Malley said. "But since he was part of that, he should be penalized."

Darnell Northington, who pleaded guilty Aug. 9 to unlawful restraint in Torres' death, will be sentenced Nov. 18. No hearing date has been set for Tifford Shields of East St. Louis, who was charged with aggravated kidnapping and concealment of a homicide.

Madison business gets grant through BAC

A main goal of Belleville Area College's Business Assistance Center is to assist area companies in improving their employees' efficiency and productivity.

Kerr-McGee Chemical Corp. of Madison and Spartan Aluminum Products Inc. of Sparta are the two latest beneficiaries of the Business Assistance Center's services.

The Center recently assisted Kerr-McGee and Spartan Aluminum in securing workplace literacy grants from Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan's office, said Jeanne Davis, employment training specialist for the Center.

Kerr-McGee's grant is for $6,000 and Spartan Aluminum's grant is for $7,000, Davis said.

The grants will allow the Business Center to provide customized work-related literacy classes for eligible employees of both businesses. Classes will be held at company sites during working hours and will be offered in the following areas: reading, math, and writing and communication skills.

In addition to these classes, the Center offers employee assessments, literacy job analysis and customized curriculum, Davis said.

John Falcone, assistant plant manager for Kerr-McGee, said the Center's staff played an integral role in obtaining grant funding.

"They prepared the grant and sent it to us so we could sign on it," Falcone said. "They were very knowledgeable about the whole process."

Kerr-McGee has three specific reasons for implementing the training, he said.

"First, we want to improve product quality and plant safety. Second, we prepare employees for career advancement. Third, we want to increase employee self-esteem and well-being," Falcone said.

Nineteen Kerr-McGee employees have signed up for the classes, with 11 of them currently in the program, he said.

Paula Kohring, personnel director for Spartan Aluminum, said all of the company's 200 employees have been assessed and that about 35 people will take part in the classes.

Kohring also praised the Center's efforts in preparing the grant.

"They were in constant communication with us," she said.

Country craft show at GCC

Collectors of country crafts can have a shopping frenzy at the Country Craft Show, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 22-24, at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, 4950 Maryville Road.

Artisans from all over the country will be showing off their wares at the two-day craft show. There will be thousands of fall and holiday crafts for sale at the show.

The long list of craft items includes wearable art, folk art, tile painting, Southwestern jewelry and art, dried wreaths, Shaker-style furniture, gourmet foods, leather truss, wood carvings, miniatures, bears, primitive dolls, quilts and children's furniture.

The show is being brought to Granite City by Country Treasures Shows. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Student Activity Fund. Admission and parking are free. Strollers are not permitted.

Glen Campbell to headline flood-relief benefit at college

The Rhinestone Cowboy, country music star Glen Campbell, will ride into the Metro East to headline a flood-relief benefit Nov. 13.

The Quad County Flood Relief Variety Show is the brainchild of Miles Wuellner of The Wuellner Co. in Godfrey. He, along with several mayors, Wedge Bank Chief Executive Officer and Board Chairman Melvin G. Hall and other civic leaders, have joined to put on the 10-hour event.

Organizers are aiming to raise $250,000 to assist flood victims in Madison, Calhoun, Jersey and Greene counties and West Alton and Portage des Sioux in Missouri, Wuellner said.

The event, in the River Bend Arena at Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey, will kick off at 10 a.m. with a two-hour concert by local entertainment groups. A silent auction and a live auction will follow. A country western jamboree headlined by Campbell will highlight the night.

Organizers plan a 10-hour television broadcast the day of the show on Jerseyville radio station WJBM-AM. Wuellner said. Negotiations are under way with other radio stations, including two in St. Louis, he added.

Securing Campbell for the event was a coup by Hall, whose family owns several properties in Branson, Mo., including the Mel Tillis Theater.

"I had lunch with him the other day and he said he'd be willing to do it for free," Hall said of Campbell. "All we're trying to do is help people who need it."

Hall has pledged $5,000 for the benefit and Wedge Bank will match his donation. He is challenging other banks to follow Wedge's lead. The money will be put into a trust to be distributed to flood victims.

"The mayors will decide where it is spent," Hall said. "It will go to the people who need it most."

About $40,000 has been raised already.

"No one has said no yet, people are digging deeper than ever before," Wuellner said.

Wuellner got the idea for the show in July and recently joined forces with Hall through Godfrey Mayor Lars Hoffman.

"A very good friend of mine's grandparents lost everything in Nutwood," he said. "I helped them out a bit and before I knew it, I was working with 27 families in Jerseyville. I got the idea (for the show) and it's snowballed from there."

Tickets for the show are $15 for either concert and the auctions or $25 for the entire day. The River Bend Arena can hold about 2,000 people.

For information on the show and tickets, call 463-2444. To contribute to the auction or assist in the show, call 463-2892.

BAC, faculty reach agreement

Tentative pact to go to full board today

By Kevin Glenn
Staff writer

The Belleville Area College board and faculty members may wrap up a contract dispute after two votes this week.

"We've reached a tentative agreement," said Larry Friedrich, vice president for human resources.

The board's Personnel / Negotiations Committee voted to recommend ratification of the agreement at a morning meeting Thursday, passing the vote on to the full board for its approval Oct. 20.

On the faculty side, union members will vote on the proposed contract Monday.

Faculty Union President Leo Welch said the union vote essentially says whether or not the faculty will work under the proposed conditions. The trustee vote says whether or not the board will abide by those conditions.

One of the sticking points in the dispute was how much employees should pay for increasing health coverage.

The issue stalled negotiations in August, when President Joe Cipri said the two sides had reached an impasse over health benefits.

The college called in a federal mediator last month to help talks along. The opposing forces reached a tentative agreement Oct. 7, Friedrich said.

Officials refused to discuss specific terms of the agreement, but those concerns apparently were addressed.

"It covers everything," Friedrich said, including compensation and working conditions.

LCCC gets grant to teach literacy

A $41,785 grant from Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan's office will help Lewis and Clark Community College continue its adult literacy program, Project READ.

"The funds are for recruiting literacy teachers and students in the area," Mike Agone, director of adult education at LCCC, said. Agone said the program also is supported by the Illinois State Board of Education.

Project READ, about seven years old, has helped more than 750 people improve reading skills, said Coordinator Annette Davis.

Currently, there are about 300 volunteer teachers helping about the same number of students at the college in Godfrey, she said. The program is aimed at people who have reading skills below a ninth-grade level.

Volunteers are trained four times a year and work with students one on one for two to four hours a week, Agone said.

People who want to improve reading skills and those wishing to volunteer their help may call the toll-free Illinois adult learning hot line at (800) 321-9511.

All calls will remain confidential.

— From the Alton Telegraph

Transit district testing soybean oil as fuel

Clean air means big dollars in the transportation business and Madison County Transit District officials are doing all they can to ensure those dollars are not deluged from the region.

The district is joining the Illinois Transit Biodiesel Project, which tests the efficiency of soybean oil as a motor fuel. Beginning Thursday, Oct. 14, some of the district's more than 100 buses will run for six months on a fuel mixture of 80 percent No. 2 diesel and 20 percent biodiesel, which is mostly soybean oil.

The mass transit program will be implemented in nine other cities and metropolitan areas throughout the state.

"With Illinois being one of the top states in the agriculture industry, we owe it to the farmers to attempt to use this fuel and see if it's feasible now or in the future," Transit Managing Director Jerry Kane said.

"Transit officials also owe it to themselves. As required by the Clean Air Act of 1990, the smog emissions in the metropolitan area must be reduced by 15 percent by January 1996 or we face the possibility of the federal government withholding financial aid."

"If you don't meet the standards, you risk losing millions in federal funding," Kane said.

MetroLink light-rail commuter service has helped reduce emissions, he said, and the transit authority is awaiting federal funding to implement a regional ride-share program in which companies would encourage employees to form car pools and seek alternative forms of transportation to work. However, even if soybean oil helps reduce emissions, meeting the 15 percent requirement "will be very difficult to do," Kane said.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is drafting rules and regulations to meet the federal guidelines.

Biodiesel also can contain other vegetable oils, used cooking oil and animal fat.

Biodiesel requires no modifications to bus engines.

A 20 percent blend of biodiesel and 80 percent petroleum diesel produces less sulfur, carbon monoxide, particulate matter and hydrocarbons.

Motor oil from the buses will be analyzed throughout the six months to determine the mixture's efficiency.

"We'll see if it burns better than (regular motor diesel) fuel," Kane said.

Stars — This year's theme for the Tri-Cities Area United Way fund drive is movies — and several "stars" showed up at the second report meeting on Oct. 14 to announce the pledges so far. In top left photo, "Scarlett O'Hara" (Kathy Clark) and "Groucho Marx" (Dave Smith) read pledges. At top right, "The Phantom of the Opera" (Paul Costello) arrives at the United Way meeting to announce the contribution of Granite City Steel's Torch Club.

"Mae West" (Elizabeth McGreath) and "W.C. Fields" (Jim Powell) make their entrance. The United Way campaign goal is $1,085,000, and $760,019 or 70 percent has been pledged so far.

World Youth Day Weekend

World Youth Day Weekend, co-sponsored by the Dioceses of Belleville and Springfield, Ill., and the Dioceses of St. Louis and Jefferson City, Mo., will be held at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, Belleville. Junior high students will meet on Oct. 23 and senior high on Oct. 24 from 1 to 8:15 p.m. each day. The youth days will include a keynote address, liturgy, dance, dinner and commissioning service for all teenagers. For additional information regarding World Youth Day Weekend, contact Paul Lindauer or Laura Skaer at the Shrine, 397-6700 (TTY), or from St. Louis, (314) 241-3400 (TTY).

Forum for SIUUE groups

The University Center Board and the Black Student Association, both of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, are sponsoring a diversity forum for members of fraternities and sororities from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 28. Scheduled in the Goshen Lounge of SIUE's University Center, speakers from the university's student body will address issues surrounding Greek life, such as reasons for becoming Greek, relationship between Greeks and non-Greeks and supporting Greek activities. For more information, call the SIUE Office of Campus Life, 692-2330.

Workers' comp discussion

"How to Lower Worker's Compensation Premiums For Illinois Small Businesses" will be the topic of discussion at a luncheon meeting of the RCGA Northwestern Illinois Area Small Business Council beginning at noon Wednesday, Oct. 20, at the Ramada Inn-Fairview Heights, Interstate 64 and Illinois 159. Larry Hochstetler, director of Government, Consumer and Industry Affairs for the National Council on Compensation Insurance, will lead a discussion on the Illinois Worker's Compensation law. The cost is $14. For reservations, call Misty Rujawitz at 314-444-1144, or 1-800-444-SOLD.

Dunham discussion planned

The Women's Studies Luncheon Forum continues during the 1993-94 academic year with an Oct. 25 meeting which features and emerita professor from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Joyce Aschenbrenner, a professor emerita of anthropology, will speak at the Forum, scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 25, in the Cahokia-Kaskaskia Room of SIUE's University Center. Professor Aschenbrenner will speak about "Katherine Dunham: Life Rhythms of a Compassionate Artist." Dunham, a celebrated choreographer and anthropologist, is considered a pioneer in modern dance.

Trekking meeting Thursday

The Illinois Trekkers Volkssport Club will hold a club meeting on Thursday, Oct. 21, at the Hope United Church of Christ, 200 Dapron Dr., Belleville, starting at 7:30 p.m. Members will conduct routine club business, review results of Becker's Farm walk on Oct. 10, discuss upcoming event at Leclaire Park in Edwardsville, on Oct. 24 and upcoming events at Our Lady of the Snows Shrine on Nov. 20.

Weight Loss
Puzzles
Researcher!

WASHINGTON -- A researcher at National Dietary Research was puzzled at how successful a natural food tablet had become in helping overweight people lose weight. Dr. William Morris was puzzled because the original chewable tablet formula was developed to help feed the world's undernourished people. Some may say the weight loss is due to the natural plant colloids that Finnish scientists say interferes with the intestinal absorption of calories and Swedish scientists found to cause weight loss in spite of patients being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns. Others may say it's the patented ingredient developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that burns the fat. But not all scientists agree with these theories so they must be considered speculation pending further study. According to Dr. Morris, the improved formula's weight loss potential is no longer a mystery. The formula, called Food Source II (FS-II) contains a powerful appetite blocker that decreases calorie absorption.

FS-II comes with a revolutionary diet plan that allows you to lose weight without giving up your favorite foods. With the FS-II Plan there are no forbidden foods and the special appetite control ingredient is one of the most effective available without a prescription.

Berkeley-Brown Labs has obtained exclusive distribution rights to FS-II. FS-II is available through pharmacies and other health care professionals.

McKendree seeking president

A search for a new McKendree College president should be narrowed to three candidates by February, with a final decision made by March, a trustee of the college said.

James Comer, chairman of the college's search committee, said the college's needs have been defined for the next president to confront. A list of characteristics the college wants in president also was developed.

The committee met Sept. 30. McKendree invited the administration, alumni, faculty, staff and students to nominate candidates for the position.

During the next two months, a candidate pool will be generated through these nominations and from national education and foundation officials, advertising in national publications and through the work of consultants.

In late November, the pool will begin to be narrowed. In early February, finalists will be brought to campus.

President Gerrit J. TenBrink, 62, announced his retirement May 1. When he steps down in 1994, he will have served 15 years, the longest term of any president in the college's 165-history.

TenBrink will continue for a year after his retirement in a special position as chancellor to ease sabbatical time. The position will involve mostly fund-raising.

Anyone wanting to purchase concert tickets can call the school at 451-5808.

Probation officials meeting in area

The Madison County Probation and Court Services Department is preparing to welcome more than 375 probation and court services professionals to the Metro East during Oct. 20-22.

This department has the unique opportunity of hosting the 24th annual fall conference of the Illinois Probation and Court Service Association at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville, marking the first time that Madison County has sponsored the association's annual conference.

The IPCSA was organized in 1969. Today it has grown to approximately 1,000 members, including judges, students, associate and affiliate members. Its mission is to assist community corrections professionals in maintaining the highest standard of service to the courts, the community, and the client.

The president of the Illinois Probation and Court Services Association is Michael J. Rohan of Cook County.

The theme of this year's conference is "Blueprints for Improving Service Quality," focusing on technological advances which can be applied to probation caseload management and supervision.

Fourteen training presentations have been developed to assist association members in the pursuit of continuing education and growth as professionals. In addition to the training tracts, various social events and public service fund-raisers have been scheduled for the enjoyment of conference participants and the betterment of the community.

Costello to hold town meeting

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-12th District, will hold a town meeting at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at the Venice City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street.

Costello, who regularly holds town meetings to keep in touch with his constituents, plans to hold seven town meetings in October. Costello said he is particularly interested in getting citizen input on President Bill Clinton's health-care reform proposal.

"I look forward to these meetings, which give me a chance to talk face-to-face with my constituents," Costello said. He has conducted 230 such meetings since becoming a congressman.

James Farmer to speak at MLK celebration at SIUE

James Farmer, founder of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and a major civil leader during the 1960s, will be the guest speaker at the 12th annual celebration commemorating the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Tuesday, Jan. 11, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The celebration will begin at 11:30 a.m. with a luncheon, followed by the program at 12:30 p.m. in Meridian Hall in the University Center.

An open reception is scheduled from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in Goshen Lounge. Farmer, who led nonviolent sit-ins at "whites-only" Chicago coffee shops in the early 1940s, took part in the "Freedom Ride" to the South that played a major role in desegregation of interstate transportation and civil rights gains of the 1960s.

In recent years, he has been busy with speaking engagements and writing a follow-up to his 1985 award-winning book, "Lay Bare My Heart."

Currently a distinguished visiting professor at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., Farmer is a former assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, president of the Council on Minority Planning and Strategy, and executive director of the Coalition of American Public Employees.

Presently, Farmer is chairman of the board for the Fund for an Open Society, a nonprofit mortgage fund which makes low-cost loans to assist integrating housing.

He has received 15 honorary doctoral degrees and has been a member of numerous prestigious boards and committees, including American for Democratic Action and the League for Industrial Democracy.

James Farmer

He remains active in national and international affairs, despite a continuing low-vision eye problem.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made at the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, 692-2020.

Tickets are $8 for SIUE students and $10 for others. The University will be closed on Monday, Jan. 17, in recognition of the national observance of Dr. King's birthday.

Last rural business program Thursday at BAC

Those interested in promoting rural businesses and their expansion can view the last in a series of community and economic development programs through a satellite linkup at 7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 21, in Room 3300 of Belleville Area College's Belleville Campus, 2500 Canyale Road.

The program is titled, "Strategies for Marketing Your Community," and will assist local officials in conducting business retention and expansion programs. Admission is $5, and advance registration is required.

For more information or to register, call BAC's Business Assistance Center at 235-2700, ext. 513 or 1-800-BAC-5131, ext. 513.

In "Strategies for Marketing Your Community," participants will receive help in creating a marketing niche and developing a targeted marketing strategy that will enhance community image. Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions of the presenters during the teleconference.

The featured speaker will be Milan Wall, founder and co-director of the Heartland Center for Leadership Development.

Auditions set for this week for telethon

The Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois is planning its fourth annual local cable telethon to be broadcast Sunday, Feb. 21, on cable channels throughout its seven-county area.

Six or more talent acts will be featured during each of the six hours of the telethon. Easter Seals is also seeking local talent such as singing, dancing, magicians, skits and instrumentalists to participate.

Talent auditions will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the Television Studio on the main campus. Auditions will be conducted from 7:10 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 21, from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Oct. 23, and from 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 28.

Talent hopefuls must contact the Easter Seal Center at 462-8897 to schedule an audition appointment.

The following requirements must be observed:

Acts must be no longer than five minutes in length.

Performers must provide all necessary equipment for their acts including accompaniment, tapes and recorders, props and make-up.

Dance studios will be limited to three acts only; and Material should be appropriate for family viewing. Acts selected for the Telethon will be notified in writing. Those chosen must be available to be videotaped at the Television Studio on the following dates: 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 13; from 6-10 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16; and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20.

Taping appointments will also be scheduled through the Easter Seal Center. Ken Conrady of Godfrey is serving as Talent Chairman for the Telethon.

Others who might be interested in assisting with Telethon activities are encouraged to contact the Easter Seal Center at 462-8897 for more information.

Briefly

Construction conference today

The Council of Owners and Construction Associates will sponsor a conference titled "Contemporary Issues in Construction Safety" from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 20, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Wesley Taylor, district supervisor, will present an overview of the operations of the OSHA district office located in Fairview Heights.

Problems associated with implementing the process safety management standard will be discussed, including examination of successful and unsuccessful employer programs and examples of some OSHA citations now being imposed on employers. In addition, the conference will present programs showing the importance of training to reduce fatalities when entering confined spaces and the proper use and maintenance of ladders and scaffolding.

The cost of the conference is $95. For more information about the conference content or registration procedures, contact the COCA office at 288-9434.

NAFE conference Saturday

"50/50 by 2000" is the mission of the National Association for Female Executives (NAFE), and is the theme for a national satellite conference on Oct. 23 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at Belleville Area College Board Conference Room. "50/50 by 2000" refers to equal representation by women in all facets of life by the year 2000.

Metro-East Professional Women (MEPW) is the locally affiliated network of NAFE, and the host of the satellite conference in Belleville.

The morning session will be a strategy session, followed by a networking lunch break, and an afternoon national town meeting for women. First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton will be participating in the afternoon town meeting. The full day seminar is $79, including lunch. Attendees can also choose to attend only morning or afternoon and pay for only those sessions.

To obtain more information and/or a registration form, contact MEPW President Jerrie Weith, (314) 525-1070 while there's still time to launch your own goals for "50/50 by 2000".

PSOP to celebrate anniversary

Belleville Area College Programs for Older Persons (PSOP) is celebrating its 20th anniversary at 6 p.m. Nov. 4 at Albert's (formerly Augustine's), 1200 Centerville Ave., Belleville.

An evening of dining and dancing, featuring music by The Noblemen, is planned. Tickets are $10, and may be purchased by calling 234-4410, extension 21, or 26.

PSOP was formed in August 1973 by a resolution from the BAC Board of Trustees. The resolution also provided start-up funding for the program.

During the first year, 300 people were served. Today, that number has grown to almost 12,000.

Financial discussion set

The Share and Care Group at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, will meet Thursday, Oct. 21, 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the Dr. Tom Dooley Center.

Charles Baum, CFP, of The Equitable, St. Louis, will be the presenter. The topic is "Financial Strategies for the Nineties."

Share and Care is a program for men and women of all faiths. Share and Care meetings are held each third Thursday evenings.

For more information on Share and Care Meeting, contact Bro. Paul Daly, OMI, of the Family Program at the Shrine, 397-6700 (TTY).

Venice Library planning Red Ribbon activity

The Venice Public Library is planning a "No To Alcohol" coloring book activity for children. The activity will be held on Oct. 23-31.

The purpose of the activity is to present a unified commitment to drug-free Illinois. The activity is sponsored by the Drug Education Alliance. The free coloring book given out on a first-come, first-served basis, contains coloring fun and is designed to help children understand the dangers of drug abuse.

The library will also have a "Think Red Contest" during the week. Contestants will be given 30 minutes to write down common phrases, book and movie titles that use the word "red." The contest will be held during the library's reading hours. Prizes will include a cloisonne art pin, a red ribbon, a 3-inch mini-banner, decals, a loon, a key tag, a friendship bracelet, and many more items. All Venice residents are encouraged to enter and join the Venice Library in purchasing a library card.

For more information, call the library.

Venice Library planning Red Ribbon activities

The Venice Public Library will be handing out "No Drugs! No Alcohol!" coloring books as it joins organizations across the state celebrating Red Ribbon Week on Oct. 23-31.

The purpose of Red Ribbon Week is to present a visible and unified commitment toward a drug-free Illinois. The 1993 campaign is sponsored by the Illinois Drug Education Alliance.

The free coloring books, to be given out on a first-come, first-served basis, contain 16 pages of coloring fun and activities designed to help children learn about the dangers of illegal drug abuse.

The library will also hold a "Think Red Contest" during Red Ribbon Week. Contestants will be given 30 minutes to write down common phrases, slogans, book and movie titles or words that use the word "red." The contest will be held every hour during the library's normal operating hours.

Prizes will include a T-shirt, a cloisonne art pin, a lapel pin, red ribbons, a 3-inch by 5-inch mini-banner, decals, a ruler, balloons, a key tag, a memo book, a friendship bracelet, bookmarks and many more items.

All Venice residents are being encouraged to enter the contest and join the Venice Library by purchasing a library card for 50 cents.

For more information, persons may call the library, 877-1330.

BAC board has opening

Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College Robert Maxwell has announced that the board will receive letters of application from individuals interested in filling the vacant position created by the resignation of Trustee Thomas Pratt.

The vacancy exists in Subdistrict 3. Any applicant selected to fill the vacancy must reside in Subdistrict 3, which covers Cahokia, Duplo, East Carondelet, Sauge, Millstadt, and portions of the City of Centerville, Alorton and Belleville.

The specific boundaries of Subdistrict 3 are available for inspection at the office of Belleville Area College board secretary, located at 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, and are also available in the office of the St. Clair County Clerk, Belleville.

Applications should be sent or delivered to Shirley Heatherly, Secretary of the Board of Trustees, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, IL 62221. Application will be received until 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 28.

The Board of Trustees has called a special meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 1, to interview applicants and select an individual to complete the term of Trusteeship for Subdistrict 3, which will expire in Nov. 1995.

Run, walk set for Saturday at BAC

Belleville Area College will hold a 10K Red Ribbon Run and two-mile walk to benefit the BAC chapter of Choosing Healthy Options Involving Community Education (CHOICE) on Saturday, Oct. 23, at BAC's Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road.

The run will begin at 9 a.m. The walk will begin at 9:15 a.m. First-, second- and third-place awards will be given in the men's and women's divisions in several age categories. Red ribbons and T-shirts will go to the first 500 runners and walkers. Pre-registration fees are $7 for runners and $4 for walkers. The race is co-sponsored by St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville.

The race will benefit the BAC chapter of CHOICE, a community group working to fight alcohol and drug abuse.

The Red Ribbon will mark the official kickoff of Red Ribbon Week in St. Clair County. Several county officials, including Sheriff Meeri Justus, Belleville Mayor Roger Cook and Regional Superintendent of Schools Martha O'Malley, have announced their support of the run. BAC plans to make the run an annual event.

Race participants may pick up registration forms at area McDonald's restaurants or may call Pat White in BAC's Counseling Department at 255-2700, extension 302, or 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 302.

Fred Rehagen

Fred S. Rehagen, 63, of Germantown, Wis., formerly of Granite City, died Sunday, Oct. 17, 1993. He was born Sept. 10, 1930.

A longtime employee and manager at A.O. Smith Corp., Granite City, he had been a teacher of manufacturing engineering at the Milwaukee School of Engineering for several years.

Mr. Rehagen was a member of St. Boniface Catholic Church, Germantown; the Knights of Columbus, Germantown; and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He was a 1952 graduate of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and served in the U.S. Air Force as a pilot.

Survivors include his wife, Helen J. Rehagen of Greenfield, Wis., and John F. Rehagen of Lansing, Mich.; one daughter, Kathleen A. Koons of Columbus, Ind.; his mother, Flora Rehagen of St. Louis; and seven grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his father, Fritz Rehagen.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. today at St. Boniface Catholic Church, 1000 N. 10th St., Germantown, Wis. Burial will be at Resurrection Cemetery, Mequon, Wis. Arrangements were by Schmidt and Bartel Funeral Home, Mequon.

Memorials are requested for the American Brain Tumor Association, 2720 River Road, Suite 146, Des Plaines, Ill. 60018, or the Columbia Hospital, 6025 E. Newport Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. 53211.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Fred and Emma (Neubauer) Wolf; three brothers, Nelson, Elmer and Herbert; and one sister, Mildred Davis.

There will be no visitation. Services will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, Granite City, with the Rev. Samuel Boda officiating. Per Mr. Wolf's wishes, his remains will be cremated.

Memorials are requested for the American Diabetes Association.

Haskell Cook

Haskell M. Cook, 67, of Granite City, died at 1:42 a.m. Friday, Oct. 15, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after a two-year illness.

He was born Oct. 19, 1925, in Birmingham, Ky., and had been a lifelong resident of Granite City. Mr. Cook was employed at Granite City Steel for 40 years prior to his retirement in 1962. A member of the United Steelworkers of America and a World War II U.S. Navy veteran, he was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include one son, Gary Cook of Chesapeake, Va.; one sister, Betty Jo Lesko of California, Md.; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by his wife, J. Marie (Nunnally) Cook; his parents, Jasper and Cora (Long) Cook; and four sisters, Emma Maud, Datha Ely, Billie Babi and Hazel Schmidt.

Services were held Monday at Mercer Mortuary, Granite City, with the Rev. Bob Jones officiating. Burial was at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Meals on Wheels.

Fred Romann

Fred J. Romann, 87, of Granite City, died at 2:36 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 16, 1993, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after a five-year illness.

He was born Aug. 26, 1906, in Jackson County, Ill., and had resided in Granite City for 79 years.

He was owner and operator of Fred's Automotive Service, Madison, for many years prior to his retirement in 1965 and was a member of St. John United Church of Christ, Granite City.

Survivors include his wife, Alma (Johannsmeyer) Romann; one daughter, Alma Beckmann of Granite City.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Louis and Mary (Heinkel) Romann.

Services were held Tuesday at Werner Chapel for Funerals, Pontoon Beach, with the Rev. Allen Seiter officiating. Burial was at St. John Cemetery, Granite City.

Memorials are requested for St. John United Church of Christ, Granite City.

Mary Madsen

Mary Alice (Stoneburner) Madsen, 50, of Pontoon Beach, died at 4:44 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 17, 1993, at her residence after a six-year illness.

She was born March 4, 1943, in East St. Louis and had resided in Pontoon Beach for 25 years. She was a homemaker and was of the Baptist faith.

Survivors include her husband, George E. Madsen, whom she married Dec. 31, 1962; one son, Dwayne Boone of Granite City; one daughter, Susan Boone of Granite City; two sisters, Ruth Ann Cox of Fair Deal, Mo., and Sue Fling of Shawnee, Kan.; her mother, Clea Stoneburner of East Alton; and two grandchildren.

She was a school teacher in the Madison School District for 23 years before retiring.

Survivors include one sister, Rosa Cluts of Anna.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Moses and Amolie Lesar; one brother, Oscar Lesar; and one sister, Esther Gendron.

Graveside services were held Tuesday at Thebes City Cemetery.

The full board is expected to approve today, Wednesday, the transfer of ownership of the former Sears Building on Hillsboro Avenue to the city after the county's Buildings and Finance committees agreed to the move last week. The board's approval is only a formality and does not lock the city into acquiring the county-owned building, said William "Skip" Krumeich, a member of the county's Buildings Committee.

"It's not like we're trying to push it down their throats or anything," Krumeich said. "The city doesn't have to take the building if they don't want it."

If the city acquires the building and decides to sell it at a later date, it would have to pay about $200,000 in federal economic development agency funds used 10 years ago to make the building accessible for people with disabilities. If the building is sold, the seller would have to pay back the grant money, Krumeich said.

The city must also want the building for long-term use, and the transfer must be approved by the federal government, said board member and Mayor of Alhambra, who serves on both the county's Buildings and Finance committees.

The building has housed county offices, a grocery store and a Sears catalog store.

The City Council has hired the Edwardsville architectural firm Perla Mannist and Associates to begin preliminary drawings and cost estimates of remodeling the building to fit city needs.

County board slated to vote on Sears Building transfer today

By Shay Wessell Staff writer

Edwardsville officials could acquire a new City Hall building at no cost if Madison County Board members approve.

The full board is expected to approve today, Wednesday, the transfer of ownership of the former Sears Building on Hillsboro Avenue to the city after the county's Buildings and Finance committees agreed to the move last week. The board's approval is only a formality and does not lock the city into acquiring the county-owned building, said William "Skip" Krumeich, a member of the county's Buildings Committee.

"It's not like we're trying to push it down their throats or anything," Krumeich said. "The city doesn't have to take the building if they don't want it."

If the city acquires the building and decides to sell it at a later date, it would have to county clerk's office," Saltich said.

"I possess the administrative skill to maintain the efficient running of the office and the 'people' skills to provide the necessary one-on-one service to the residents of Madison County," Saltich said the Granite City Democratic committee voted last week to endorse her candidacy, solidifying her decision to run.

"I've known some of the committee members virtually all my life. They are hardworking, dedicated Democrats whose support is invaluable to my campaign," Saltich said.

"When Evelyn Bowles announced she would not seek re-election, I was approached by a number of individuals about Amid scattered piles of three-ring binders and computer printouts, committee members spent much of Thursday evening wrestling with such weighty questions as how much money to give the jury commission.

The committee approved $144,000 for the Sheriff's Department to replace the aging squad cars, about $90,000 less and six cars fewer than the sheriff requested, but held off on the question of whether to make the sheriff pay for $137,000 in pay hikes for union personnel out of his day-to-day operating budget.

Committee members appeared divided over the question of whether to force department heads and other officials to use day-to-day operating bud gets to absorb some or all of the pay increases owed workers. Using operating budgets is sure to draw a storm of protest from department heads.

The recommended budget plan now in the works could also come under fire at a special board meeting Oct. 27 from board members partial to department heads, said a committee chairman, Bill Little of Alton said.

At least one board member, Al Charleston of Alton, has already voiced opposition to forcing the cost of pay hikes onto department heads.

"I totally disagree with putting that kind of onus on a department head," said Charleston, who is not a member of the committee but attended the meeting.

running for the position.

"I was already considering entering the race and, with their enthusiastic support, it made the decision that much easier."

"I've worked a lot of campaigns and I know what it takes to win an election. I'm in this race to win."

Saltich said she will actively seek the endorsement of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee.

Since Robbins has the endorsement of Bowles and Echols is a longtime member of the Madison Democratic organization, Saltich said she realizes there is a possibility of a split in the party this election.

"If I did not get the Central Committee endorsement, I would have to take a long look at everything," Saltich said.

"I have always been a pretty good party player. The Central Committee endorsement means a lot to me.

"Right now, I'm doing my homework. I've been encouraged by the responses I've gotten from some members of the Central Committee."

Saltich stressed her experience and administrative skills as qualifications for the office.

"Along with continually looking to improve the efficiency of running elections and voter registration, the clerk must deal with the State Board of Elections in Springfield," Saltich said.

"There is a wide range in the mix of people you work with, a similar mix of people I have worked with over the years."

"The combination of the challenge, while still being able to work with the people, is appealing to me."

Engineering scholarships are available

Applications for scholarships available to college-bound sophomores and juniors enrolled or planning to enroll in the fall of 1993 in four- or five-year engineering or civil engineering degree programs may be obtained at the offices of Southern Illinois University Association, 7623 W. Main P.O. Box 739, Belleville, Ill. 62220.

Winners of the scholarship competition, sponsored by Associated General Contractors of America, Education and Research Foundation, may be eligible for grants to $6,000 over a four-year period of undergraduate study.

SIBA is a chapter of AGC, a national contractor association.

A college senior enrolled in an undergraduate construction or civil engineering program or a person planning an undergraduate program in construction or civil engineering in the fall of 1993 may compete for the Saul H. Jr. Memorial Grant Award.

The applicant must be enrolled, or planning to enroll, in a graduate level construction or civil engineering degree program as a full-time student.

The recipient will be awarded $7,500 in assistance for the duration of study.

The deadline for completed applications with the accompanying recommendation letter is Nov. 15.

Applicants are selected on the basis of academic achievement, extracurricular activities, employment experience, financial need, and a demonstrated interest in a construction career.

Information can be obtained on the 12th James L. Allhands Essay Contest that will result in a prize and a trip to the AGC Convention in Orlando, Fla., for the first-place student. The AGC Convention trip for the student's faculty sponsor for the first-place student and $300 for the third-place student.

The Allhands Essay Contest postmark deadline is also Nov. 15.

Finally, AGC will $5,000 and a trip to the AGC Convention in Orlando, Fla., to the top three university faculty members who have completed construction education and are honored as the Outstanding Educator Award winners.

Postmark deadline for receipt of nomination award and the essay must be submitted by Nov. 15.

For application information on the University of Illinois Awards, the State of Illinois Awards, the Allhands Essay Contest, call the SIBA office at 397-3400.

Rivers project to be updated today

"An Update on the Rivers Projects" will be the topic of the Focus Series session at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Wednesday, Oct. 20.

Robert Williams, professor of curriculum and instruction at the university, will present the program. Professor Williams is the director of the Rivers and Rivers Curriculum Projects, a cooperative educational venture between higher education, secondary schools, governmental agencies, and other social institutions.

Developed three years ago as a pilot program, the Rivers Projects have experienced tremendous growth. Today, the projects involve 180 high schools, 350 high school teachers, and literally thousands of students in 10 midwestern states.

The original intent of the program was to show teachers how they could not only introduce students to scientific research, but to gain significant information about the condition of water quality of the country's inland waterways.

The Focus Series was developed for persons 55 years of age or older who enjoy participating in new learning experiences. They are also open to the public.

Sessions are scheduled Wednesdays from 9:50 to 11:30 a.m. in the Mississippi/Illinois Room of the University Center. Registration for each session is $1.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Emily Coffin, coordinator of community programs and public services, at 692-3210.

Students from other lands spread culture

In Vietnam, school children learn a second language as part of the regular curriculum. Also, they can opt to study another language when they are older.

Thiem Flynn, a student in the English as a Second Language program at Belleville Area College, told students at Ellis Elementary School in Belleville that she learned to speak French, as well as Vietnamese, when she was growing up in Hanoi, Vietnam. She later decided to study English in school.

Flynn and another East St. Louis student, Takako Munn of Japan, visited Ellis School recently to discuss their native countries with the grade school students.

The East St. Louis students visited the elementary school to help the children better understand the different cultures in the world. Also, speaking in front of a group provides the English as a Second Language students with an opportunity to use the communications skills they learned in their classes at EASC.

This activity is made possible because of a grant from the Belleville Area College Foundation. English as a Second Language students will visit elementary schools throughout the EASC district.

During her talk, Flynn showed the students traditional Vietnamese clothing, explained a few words of the language and shared some insights about her country.

She told students that it rarely gets below 65 degrees in Vietnam.

"You never need a coat or gloves," she said. "The most you ever need is a sweater—that's all."

She also explained that it is not the custom in Vietnam to celebrate individual birthdays. Everyone celebrates the anniversary of their birth on the Chinese New Year.

Munn, who moved to the United States from Japan 5½ years ago, told students that the Japanese educational system is very different from the system in the United States.

She said the Japanese take education very seriously. The school day is much longer in Japan than it is in America, and the school year is a lot longer. Summer vacation in Japan is only a little more than a month long.

Munn told students a little bit about the history of Japan, ranging from the Imperial era to the present democratic system.

Also, she brought a traditional Japanese kimono to show the students.

In the Japanese culture, there are some holidays for little boys and other holidays for little girls, she said.

On the boys' holidays, they will often decorate their homes with symbols of ancient warfare such as helmets and swords.

Little girls will dress special dolls in traditional costumes and place them around the house on the girl holidays, she said.

Munn did explain to the students that children are the same all over the world. Even in Japan they still like Mickey Mouse, baseball, Nintendo and loud Rock 'n' Roll.

For more information about the English as a Second Language Program, call the Adult Basic Education office at 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 363.

What can be square or round, is family oriented — after all, it never goes topless — and shows up at the table any time of day?

Pizza, of course, the all-American favorite.

In October — National Pizza Month — or any time of year, there is the ever-popular one only a phone call, oven or freezer away. It has a bread-style crust, a layer of seasoned tomato sauce, extra flavor from sausage or pepperoni, plus a topping of melting cheese. But the world is full of new things — from the bottom layer to the top.

Start at the base. Tradition smiles on a yeast crust, but the clock can turn the smile into a frown. A supermarket offers a variety of crusts refrigerated, ready to roll, prepared for mixing or as stand-ins for the real thing. If time allows, add spices to the dough.

Move up a level. Pizza purists consider it heresy to vary the dish's ethnic personality, but today's pizza has international flavors from Mexico, the Orient, the Caribbean and back home in the Old West.

Some interest in the trend to get rid of fat by using lighter and less cheese. Others replace high-fat sausage with beans and white-meat chicken in meals all week long. Some cooks just have a knack for meshing flavors they like from all parts of the world.

After all, even a round pizza makes a square meal. The crust comes from the carbohydrate-high grains food group. There are vegetables, meat and cheese besides. The puzzle is to get them to be the most nutritious. Sometimes alternative toppings make that possible.

Taking the traditional type for a starter. Add red onion, mushrooms and sliced green bell pepper. Less cheese yields less fat. Mozzarella made from part skim milk is one cheese of choice for pizza which follows the trend. Choose a cheese with lots of flavor punch, so less can be used. Another trick for using less cheese is to serve pizza right from the oven, so the "melted" feel is in its prime.

Looking to other cuisines for inspiration, a pizza aficionado can take a cue from California Pizza Kitchens, which has one of its 34 stores locally at the Galleria. Of more than 25 pizzas on its menu, almost one-third are made with chicken — barbecued, Tex-Mex, roasted with Italian seasonings and new potatoes, garlic-roasted Thai, Indian, Oriental and Santa Fe. It uses mozzarella cheese next to the crust and a sprinkling of extras on top. It is baked hot and fast to seal in flavor and quality.

Green and red onion are among the toppings. So are teriyaki sauce, spicy tomato yogurt curry, fresh tomato and tomatillo salsa and grilled eggplant. The pizzas do not shy away from skipping meat altogether. Hawaiian pizza is interpreted with pineapple, bacon or Canadian bacon and homemade tomato sauce. Grilled teriyaki chicken pizza has grilled chicken marinated in an orange teriyaki sauce, red onion, scallion and bell pepper on top.

In other words, pizza has come a long way, baby. All it takes is a little — well, sometimes a lot of — imagination.

Here are ideas for putting that imagination to use. Try a new-style pizza cut in small pieces for an appetizer instead of a main dish, for a change. Southwestern Black Bean Bruschetta, a finalist in the 1993 Bays National Recipe Contest, falls into this type of cuisine. For other easy-to-prepare recipes on English muffins, a free recipe book is available by writing to: "Brunch with Bays," Bays Home Service Institute, 500 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 200, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

The barbecue beef pizza was a finalist in this year's National Beef Cook-Off. California Pizza Kitchen cooks its pizza dough, like the one given here, in a wood-fired oven. Its closest home comparison is baking on a pizza stone preheated in the oven, with the dough turned halfway through the cooking time. Without the flat stone, it recommends cooking pizza on a lightly-oiled round pizza tin or flat baking sheet.

SOUTHWESTERN BLACK BEAN BRUSCHETTA

- 1 cup canned black beans, rinsed, drained
- 1 medium tomato, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1/4 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 2 tbsp. finely chopped onion
- 1 tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro
- 1/4 cup olive oil, divided
- 1 tsp. lime juice
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. cumin
- 1/4 tsp. oregano
- 1 tsp. crushed garlic
- 4 English muffins, split, lightly toasted
- 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese

In medium bowl, combine beans, tomato, green pepper, onion and cilantro. In small bowl, whisk together 2 tablespoons olive oil with lime juice, salt, cumin and oregano. Toss with black bean mixture.

In small saucepan over medium heat, heat remaining olive oil. Sauté garlic about 2 minutes until golden. Brush muffin halves evenly with oil mixture. Top each with about 2 tablespoons bean mixture, then sprinkle evenly with cheese. Broil 6 inches from heat about 3 minutes until cheese melts.

Serve immediately.
Makes 8 servings.

BARBECUE CHICKEN PIZZA

- 1/2 pizza dough from given recipe
- 2 tbsp. barbecue sauce
- 1 tbsp. grated smoked gouda cheese
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1/2 cup boned, skinned, chicken breast (marinated in barbecue sauce), cut in pieces
- 12 to 16 half-rings of sliced red onion
- 1 tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro

Preheat oven to 400°. If pizza stone is available (can be purchased at local kitchen specialty stores like Kitchen Conservatory or Williams-Sonoma for $16 to $30), heat on middle shelf.

Roll or press dough on lightly oiled pan to 9- to 10-inch diameter, forming rim. Spread barbecue sauce to within 1 inch edge of dough. Sprinkle smoked gouda evenly over sauce. Sprinkle 1/2 cup mozzarella to within 1 inch of edge of dough. Distribute chicken evenly over cheese. Top with onion. Sprinkle cilantro on top. Sprinkle remaining 1/2 cup mozzarella cheese evenly over top to prevent ingredients from scorching.

Slide pizza on pizza stone, being careful not to spill cheese onto hot stone, or place pan directly on rack. Reduce oven temperature to 350°. Bake 12 to 15 minutes until crust is golden brown on side and bottom crust is crispy.

Immediately slice in 6 to 8 pieces.

ROASTED VEGETABLE PIZZA

Over red coals, spread vegetables — Japanese egg plant, white onion, rutabaga, zucchini, mushrooms, red onion are possibilities — sliced 1/4-inch thick on grill rack treated lightly with olive oil 3 to 5 minutes per side until crisp on outside and still tender on inside. Vegetables stick to grill if not ready to be turned. Remove from grill and let cool. To roast vegetables in conventional oven, lay in single layer in baking pan and bake in preheated 450° oven 5 to 7 minutes. Let cool.

For 1 pizza, roast 2 roma tomatoes the same way, mash with fork in a bowl, then pour over dough. Sprinkle with garlic. Cover evenly with vegetables. Bake in 500° oven about 10 minutes until crust is crisp and vegetables are hot. As pizza cools, mince sage and sprinkle on top.

BARBECUE BEEF
FOCACCIA-STYLE PIZZA

- 1 1/2 lb. lean ground beef
- 3/4 cup frozen corn, defrosted
- 3/4 cup barbecue sauce (non-smoky, non-sweet preferred)
- 1/2 cup sliced green onion
- 1/2 tsp. salt, if desired
- 1 large (16 oz.) Italian bread shell or prepared pizza crust
- 1 1/2 cups (8 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- Pepperoncini peppers, if desired

Preheat oven to 425°.

In large nonstick skillet, brown ground beef over medium heat 8 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally, until beef is no longer pink. Pour off drippings. Stir in corn, barbecue sauce, onion and salt. Heat through.

Place bread shell on large ungreased baking sheet. Spread beef mixture evenly over bread. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes until cheese is melted.

Cut in 6 wedges. Garnish with peppers.
Makes 8 servings.

PIZZA DOUGH

- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 1 pkg. dry yeast
- 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt

Place water, yeast and 1 cup flour in mixing bowl. Stir well. Add salt. Stir in remaining flour a little at a time until dough is too stiff to stir. Place on lightly floured surface. Knead, adding more flour if dough is too sticky, about 10 minutes until dough is smooth and satiny. Put dough in greased bowl. Let rise, covered, at room temperature about 1 hour until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again until doubled.

Use immediately or reserve dough, well wrapped, 2 to 3 days in refrigerator.

When making pizza, roll out or press dough on ungreased pizza pan in 9- or 10-inch circle about 1/4-inch thick. Pinch dough's outer edge to form rim to keep juices from leaking. Let rise about 30 minutes.
Makes enough dough for two (8 1/2-inch) pizzas.

CRUST CRAZE

Homemade dough is one of life's aromatic joys. A little oregano, basil, rosemary or garlic powder makes Italian flavor even better. It's easy, it's fun, it's a little time. Home that do not find time to make it from scratch have many alternatives:

- Unbaked individual pizza crusts come refrigerated and ready for topping at the supermarket two or three at a time for about $1 each. Some include other pizza ingredients.
- While most local pizza parlors do not advertise their crusts as a carte for sale, a phone call to a favorite salery may yield a surprisingly positive answer for an adoring fan who wants just a few.
- Refrigerated pizza crust ($1.99) in a roll is easy to use.
- An English muffin, split in half and toasted lightly, makes a solid base for extra ingredients. Check different brands. Thickness and quality vary, so does price, which varies from 70 cents to more than $2 for six muffins.

- Pita bread, best used without splitting, runs about $1 for six.
- Flour tortillas sound like automatic alienation of pizza's heritage, but the fajita style is solid enough for this use. They run about $1 for 16.
- Flat Italian bread shells come seasoned and ready for topping. They are packaged at about $3 for one 16-ounce shell or $2.25 for two (4-ounce) shells.
- Sliced French bread is another option ($1 to $1.75 per 1-pound loaf) that bakes ingredients better when slightly toasted.
- Frozen bread dough (less than $1 a loaf) can be thawed and formed in any shape — including a heart for an anniversary or special message.
- One of the least expensive crusts — between 23 and 50 cents — comes in a mix from a box. It requires a little water for mixing and about 10 minutes for standing time.

Eating breakfast energizes morning with meal-to-go

It sounds like something Mother would say: Breakfast is perhaps the most important meal of the day.

Why is eating breakfast such a smart thing to do?

• Beginning the day with a meal is linked to improved strength and endurance, as well as a better attitude toward work and school. It prevents hunger and subsequent overeating later.

• Breakfast helps refuel the body after not eating for several hours. It gets metabolism going again.

• A study of 1,000 school children showed those who ate a good breakfast scored higher on achievement tests.

• Breakfast eaters eat more fiber, calcium, vitamin C and folic acid.

A nutritious breakfast can be as simple as a glass of juice and cereal with milk. When the rush is on in the morning or people just have no appetite, the goal is

For Two Or a Few

"grab and run."

A portable breakfast can be as simple as a muffin and fruit, tucked in a briefcase or bag, to nibble upon arrival at the office or school. Keep the pantry well-stocked with movable morning fare. Suggestions are bagels, frozen pancakes and waffles, whole grain muffins, English muffins, ready-to-eat cereal, individual servings of hot cereals, cream cheese (plain or flavored), yogurt, cottage cheese, ricotta cheese, butter, milk, preserves, fruit spreads, honey, syrup, fresh fruits. Some can be stowed in community refrigerators at work.

Here are some ways to mix and match them:

• Waffle-wiches: Spread cream cheese or cottage cheese and jam or honey between toasted waffles. Nestle in a napkin for munching.

• Pancake Rolls: Spread warm microwave pancakes with cream cheese or ricotta cheese. Wrap around a banana.

• Cereal 'n' Yogurt: Take a resealable bag filled with favorite ready-to-eat cereal and a carton of yogurt to eat at the desk.

• Blender Beverages: Blend a combination of milk with fresh or frozen berries and a touch of honey; milk and maple syrup; strawberry yogurt, milk and bananas. Pour into a travel mug and hit the road or sip while getting dressed.

• Fruit 'n' Ricotta: Stir favorite cut-up fruits into ricotta or cottage cheese and refrigerate, covered, overnight. Eat from the container or spread on a bagel.

Raspberry swirl cream cheese

2 pkg. (3 oz. each) cream cheese
1/2 cup vanilla yogurt
1 1/2 tsp. sugar, if desired
2 tbsp. raspberry preserves

Using food processor or electric mixer, mix cream cheese, yogurt and sugar until smooth.

Alternately spoon cream cheese mixture and raspberry preserves into small serving bowl. Gently stir in circular motion to form swirls, but do not mix completely.

Serve immediately or store, covered, in refrigerator up to 5 days.

Spread on bagels, English muffins, scones, toast or waffles. If mixture separates during storage, stir to blend.

Yields about 1 cup spread; 101 calories, 2 g protein, 8 g fat and 7 g carbohydrate per 2-tablespoon serving.

ricotta spread

1/2 cup ricotta cheese
1/2 cup chopped raw vegetable, such as carrot, celery, bell pepper or radish
1 tsp. sliced green onion, if desired
1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper

In small bowl, stir together ricotta, vegetable, onion and pepper. Refrigerate to blend flavors. Store, covered, in refrigerator up to 5 days.

Spread on bagels, English muffins or toast.

International boundaries fall to chefs cooking to cut hunger

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Three local chefs helped South Africans pinpoint St. Louis on the map of the United States when they and 40 other U.S. chefs teamed up this summer in the World Cooks Tour for Hunger.

Reed Miller of St. Louis Community College at Forest Park, Wiley C. Thompson of Patrick's at Westport and James Day of Total Concept Catering formed a fund-raising team for Operation Hunger to distribute food to local children in South Africa. Each is a former chef of the year of the St. Louis Chefs de Cuisine, and Thompson is president. The local chefs' chapter helped support them on the project.

"Word came in July that there would be a joint effort with the World Association of Cooks Societies to get chefs together worldwide to raise money for world hunger, and we were three who could get away in August," Miller said.

A total of 146 chefs from 23 countries participated.

There was a variety of fund-raising efforts. Elegant dinners were served with chefs waiting tables. The chefs also teamed up with homemakers to prepare economical lunches on a budget with local — African-local, that is — ingredients from a supermarket. International chefs interpreted winning recipes from contests in local shopping centers.

Another project was a cookbook featuring the chefs.

"I think we must have authored 2,000 copies," Day said. "We had writer's cramp."

That wasn't the only thing that tired their wrists. They served lunches for 300 and dinners for 4,000 people. Forty gallons of clam chowder and 10 gallons of marinara sauce were part of the ritual.

They also served food to underprivileged children at street parties in Johannesburg and Durban. Operation Hunger feeds 1.6 million people in South Africa.

"We were told ahead of the paradoxes in South Africa with patches of the 20th century. You cross the street, and you are in the Third World," Miller said. In Soweto there were squalid conditions in a squatter's camp where corrugated metal buildings provided winter weather protection.

Cup of Coffee

"At one party at a city amusement park there were 1,000 kids. They had never had ice cream before. One girl about 13 years old wanted to take it home in her pack to show what it was like," Miller said. "Wherever we went they all wanted to take something back."

The social system was evident at hotels. Each job in the kitchen — down to washing the floor — was done by members of a different tribe that spoke a separate language and even ate different food from people working within arm's reach.

Part of the challenge was to produce meals in a foreign land. Team St. Louis' signature meal was Missouri Smoked Trout Salad with Spiced Oil Vinaigrette, Ozark Footbills Turkey Breast with Cornbread Wild Mushroom Stuffing served with Cider-Dijon Sauce, Okra and Tomatoes, Glazed Baked Carrots and a show-stopping dessert, St. Louis Chocolate Seduction.

They took along cranberries for cranberry mint chutney, but did not realize cranberry would be available white and finely ground so it gave the consistency of cake instead of American cranberry. After sending out an SOS for turkey breast, they received what Miller called "the last two whole turkeys in all of Johannesburg" frozen in a block. No giblets were there.

They had one set of knives along, cooked in pots that either held 4 quarts or 80 quarts of food and used one wire whip available in a single hotel.

"We had to dig down and be a chef," said Thompson — even down to using something akin to toilet paper instead of paper towels for kitchen purposes.

"Yes," "tomorrow" and "in a minute" were simultaneous answers.

They raised twice the amount of money for Operation Hunger than was their goal. They traveled all the way to South Africa to find that Miller is a proficient auctioneer. Funds will be used to dig two deep wells in major areas to follow the premise of providing means for South Africans to help themselves.

"We didn't try to solve the problems of every country," Thompson said.

FEELING FIT
By Mark Lymboropoulos

Of course, Mom said it all along — and now a study at the Duke University Medical Center confirms that regular exercise helps participants sleep better. Best bet to avoid overstimulation, say the doctors, is to work out no later than late afternoon.

How good are sports drinks like Gatorade and Exceed? They do supply the best concentration of carbohydrates for endurance exercise but are more expensive than the diluted fruit juices they resemble. You may or may not need the electrolytes they supply.

Well-toned abdominal muscles provide more than a flat stomach — they also support the lower pelvis and hold the spine in alignment. Count on the ab to improve athletic performance, too, especially in sports like tennis and volleyball that call for reaching.

What's new in sports? Wind skating! It combines today's popular rollerblading with wind surfing, that is, skaters carry a kite-like sail and roll where the wind blows them.

What's new in workouts? Count on our exercise experts to keep up with the latest moves at

Weight loss clubs hold homecoming

Take Off Pounds Sensibly clubs from Granite City and Madison held a homecoming for current members, past members and visitors recently at the Anchorage Recreation Center in Granite City.

Approximately 150 people attended, including Tony Angeloff, area captain; Dartha Waldron, area coordinator; and Al Futrell, Illinois state king and international king runner-up.

Success stories were given concerning their weight losses by Debbie Harmon, 84 pounds; Janet Bergfield, 30 pounds; Ann Futrell, 101 pounds; and Donna Kagy, 102 pounds.

The entertainment was furnished by Barbara Muzzarellie and "Willie."

TOPS is a non-profit organization with membership in excess of 350,000 members to promote group support in weight loss.

They may be reached by calling (800) 932-8677 for further information.

King and queen — Al Futrell, right, international king runnerup of TOPS, with Robyn Martin of Malone, N.Y., queen runnerup.

Runnerup as international king of TOPS

Al Futrell of Granite City was recently honored as Illinois state king and international king runnerup of Take Off Pounds Sensibly at the club's international convention held in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

• Futrell is a member of TOPS IL 645, Granite City.

• TOPS is a non-profit weight loss organization that has over 355,000 members worldwide.

• He achieved the honor with a weight loss of 123½ pounds over a 15-month period. He has been a member of TOPS for three years.

Lodge donates supplies

Members of Delray Rebekah Lodge 786, Madison, donated school supplies to Harris School in Madison for underprivileged children as one of their projects.

Those making the presentation to Ann Bulva, school secretary, were Pearl Wood, Hazel Wheeler, Lydia Henderson and Daisy Burnett.

Other groups the lodge helps are Children's Home at Lincoln, Odd Fellow Rebekah Home at Mattoon; Visual Eye Research, Alzheimer's Wing at Mattoon Home and the Education and Scholarship Foundation.

DUVCW Tent 92 holds meeting

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Aunt Becky Young Tent 92, met at Shoney's Restaurant for luncheon and a business meeting Sept. 23.

The meeting was opened by President Mary Stonum. A prayer was given by Enid Bolin. All the members repeated the Pledge of Allegiance.

The reading of the records was done by Mary Stonum and roll call was called by Christine Hornberger.

The treasurer's report was read by Louise Thompson. A donation was made to the United Way fund.

A letter from Louise Brinker, who is ill in health, was read.

Mary Stonum also read a letter from Andria Miller about the state convention held in Springfield, Ill. The meeting was adjourned for a gift exchange.

Special prizes were awarded to Louise Thompson and Christine Hornberger.

Evelyn Rengering was the hostess. Table favors were made out of decal butterflies.

Those in attendance were Mary Stonum, Christine Hornberger, Louise Thompson, Evelyn Rengering, Joyce Moran, Enid Bolin and Peggy Gibbons.

 No room for actions in IH

By now you should be that linebacker Bryan Cox, Miami Dolphins was fined $10,000 recently for giving obscene gestures to spectators prior to a game in Buffalo. The fine is being appealed by Cox, a native of East St. Louis, who really never showed remorse over the matter.

SAID COX: "Kids will tell me I saw me in a light much rather than have me. Other than that, I have no regrets. If I had to do it again, I probably would. The third-year player played collegiately at Illinois and already has All-Pro honors, stirring controversy with derogatory comments about Buffalo players there in September. My concern is how such actions by student-athletes at the high school level will be handled. At O'Fallon High School, the school has refers to "unacceptable behavior" and notes "disciplinary action may suspension or removal activity."

THE BOOK ALSO notes "Disciplinary action given by the coach, director of the activity. At the recent Tour de Champions boys soccer tournament at Granite School, I asked a cheerleader from Oakville (Mo.) if the school handled such gestures, swearing, confrontations with club sponsors, or alcohol use.

Her response was that of alcohol related problems this year's Oakville Homecoming, the school handbook was being include specific disciplinary form of suspensions. Most schools leave the decision to the director of the event. In the case at Althoff, Principal Renz reminded me that an athlete or student in a school activity, must realize it is a participant for a school conduct must include and they must understand their school.

THE ILLINOIS High Association may be the NFL, but the IHSA is concerned about the student-athletes and that game officials when there is a problem.

This "special report" passed along to the school's principal effort to seek exact on a problem and proper discipline is. Should a school have its duties, the IHSA issue suspensions deems necessary.

If Cox were a high youngster and did he'd no doubt have who would appeal suspension. But I must realize that at the level, his behavior anything similar to accepted.

OVERTIME: Art U. had rolled to a record, goalkeepers L'Hommiedieu of posted a 5-1-0 record goals against average the statistical leader Great Midwest Cup. L'Hommiedieu, was a prep All-American at O'Fallon High, had a string of 283 minutes.

No room for Cox actions in IHSA

By now you should be aware that linebacker Bryan Cox of the Miami Dolphins was fined $10,000 recently for giving obscene gestures to spectators prior to a game in Buffalo. The fine is being appealed by Cox, a native of East St. Louis, who really never showed much remorse over the matter.

SAID COX: "Kids who look up to me saw me in a light I'd much rather not have been in. Other than that, I have no regrets. If I had to do it all over again, I probably would."

The third-year player, who played collegiately at Western Illinois and already has achieved All-Pro honors, stirred up controversy with derogatory comments about Buffalo before playing there in September. My concern is how similar actions by student-athletes on the high school level will be handled.

At O'Fallon High School, for instance, the school handbook refers to "unacceptable behavior" and notes "disciplinary action may include suspension or removal from any activity."

THE BOOK ALSO notes: "Disciplinary action will be given by the coach, director or sponsor of the activity."

At the recent Tournament of Champions boys soccer tournament at Granite City High School, I asked a cheerleader from Oakville (Mo.) how her school handled such things as gestures, swearing, confrontations with coaches or club sponsors, or alcohol and drug use.

Her response was that because of alcohol related problems at this year's Oakville Homecoming, the school's handbook was being revised to include specific discipline in the form of suspensions.

Most schools leave much of the decision to the coach or director of the event, as is the case at Althoff. Principal Jan Ritz reminded that whether an athlete or student is involved in a school activity, "the student must realize it is a privilege to participate for a school. Their conduct must include respect and they must understand they represent their school."

THE ILLINOIS High School Association may not be equal to the NFL, but the IHSA is concerned about the conduct of student-athletes and has a form that game officials are to fill out when there is a problem.

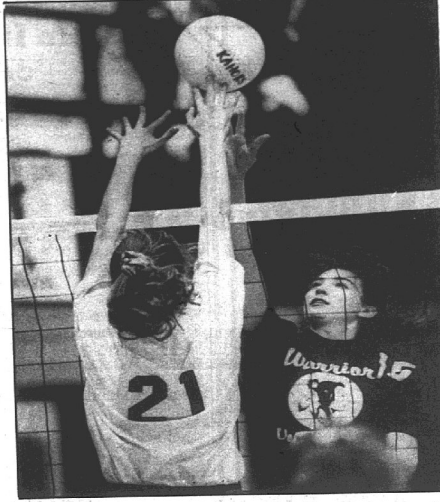

This "special report" then is passed along to the IHSA office and a school's principal in an effort to seek exact information on a problem and make sure proper discipline is considered. Should a school be remiss in its duties, the IHSA is free to issue suspensions where it deems necessary.

If Cox were a high school youngster and did what he did, he'd no doubt have an attorney who would appeal the suspension. But I'm also sure he must realize that regardless of the level, his behavior or anything similar to it will not be accepted.

OVERTIME: After St. Louis U. had rolled to an 8-2 soccer record, goalkeeper Eddie L'Hommiedieu of O'Fallon had posted a 5-1-0 record and 0.87 goals average to rank as the statistical leader of the Great Midwest Conference. L'Hommiedieu, a junior who was a prep All-American at O'Fallon High, had a shutout string of 283 minutes.

Kickers survive Stars, overtime

Healthy lineup leads Warriors past McCluer North, 2-1

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Granite City soccer team reached two firsts Monday at McCluer North. After fielding a full, injury-free lineup, the Warriors went on to earn a 2-1 win over the Stars in overtime.

THE GAME MARKED the return of fullbacks Corey Kessler, Matt Little and Scott Nemeth, who have all missed time because of injuries this season. The Warriors' good fortune continued when Jared Rafferty scored the game-winning goal at the 85-minute mark, giving Granite City its first overtime win over the Stars.

It was a positive step for the Warriors, although coach Gene Baker was not fully satisfied with his team's play. The game

Petroski records first hat trick; Warriors blast Belleville West

The Warrior soccer team closed out Southwestern Conference play Saturday with an 8-1 win at Belleville West that featured a hat trick by Shawn Petroski.

Petroski scored Granite City's first three goals, including one on a penalty kick, and finished with four on the day for his first hat trick of the year. The junior forward increased his scoring total to 16 goals and recorded his fourth assist on a goal by Tommy Breeden.

"IT WAS HIS DAY," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "He's a good player, and he's working hard."

The Warriors also got goals from Paulie Bucherich, Jeff Hayes and Sonny Aryan. The win improved Granite City's conference record to 6-1-1.

The Warriors (13-4-1) will now prepare for their final regular season game, Thursday at St. Louis University High, and the playoffs. The Warriors begin Granite City Sectional play Saturday with an 11 a.m. regional game at home.

The Warriors will play the winner of a Thursday game between Wood River and Lebanon. If the Warriors win, they will play another home game at (See WARRIORS, Page 3D)

Lady Warriors struggle after quick tourney start

What appeared to be a quick start for the Lady Warrior volleyball team in the Freeburg Invitational quickly turned into a lost weekend.

The Lady Warriors went 0-3 during the event after taking Belleville East to the limit in the opening round. Granite City, now 12-13-2, led the Lancers 12-6 in the third game but lost the match 15-1, 13-15, 15-13.

AND GRANITE CITY couldn't solve Freeburg or Triad on Saturday.

urday, as the Lady Warriors were beaten in straight sets in both matches. Freeburg won 15-8, 15-9 and Triad pulled off a 15-11, 16-14 victory after Granite City took a 14-7 advantage in the second game.

"I was very disappointed coming out of the tournament 0-3," said Granite City coach Cindy (See LADY WARRIORS, Page 4D)

Central spikers dominate field, defeat Belleville East for title

By Scott Wuerz
Correspondent

Breese Central blew by a field of eight teams last weekend to successfully defend its Freeburg Invitational title.

The Cougars, who were the top-seeded team in the tournament, dismantled Belleville East in the championship round and improved to 25-3 for the season with 15-3 and 15-1 wins.

THE LANCERS BATTLED early in both games but seemed to be worn down by Breese Central's unpredictable offense. Middle blockers Kelly Potthast and Lea Beckmeyer dominated the front line, giving the Lancers the impossible task of predicting which player would take the final shot.

Central coach Mary Schildroth said her players had trouble getting in synch in each of the two contests, but they came on strong when their instincts took over.

"We had trouble putting things together early and you could see (See CENTRAL, Page 4D)

Weather forces cancellation of Racefest '93; season ends

Steady rain forced Tri-City Speedway to postpone RACEFEST '93 to 1994. Instead, the speedway will open the new racing season with the 100-lap Pro Stock Nationals on Saturday, April 2, 1994.

Saturday's postponement was the second for RACEFEST '93 because of rain.

"WE HAD HOPED to get this race in before the rains came," Tri-City owner and promoter Bob Wente said. "We had many, many cars ready to race but with the miserable conditions we thought the best thing to do for our fans and competitors, was to reschedule the Pro Stock Nationals to next season."

One thousand dollars will go to the winner of the 100-lap Nationals, and as an added bonus, promoter Bob Wente has kicked in another $1,000 in lap money.

Tri-City Speedway opens its regular season Saturday, April 16, with the winged 360 Sprint Cars, Pro Stocks and Allied Auto Racing Association Modifieds. In limited seating at Sportsmen and Street Stocks.

Maroon netters edge East, win ninth straight title

By Scott Marlon
Staff writer

As expected, the Belleville West girls tennis team won its ninth consecutive sectional championship on Saturday. But it wasn't easy.

WEST SCORED 14½ points to win the Belleville East Sectional, edging the host Lancers by half a point. The Maroons didn't clinch the title until the final match was over.

Because of rain, the last round was completed at Oak Hill Racquet Club.

"I'm drained," West coach Bob Keefe said. "Almost every match was either three sets or a close two sets. As a coach, you have a tendency to live and die with every point."

"You have to give East a ton of credit. They did a very good job. They were hungry."

The Maroons will send two singles players and a doubles team to the state tournament, to be held Thursday through Saturday in Mount Prospect. East will send two doubles teams and a singles player.

ALTHOFF, WHICH placed third with 10½ points, will send one singles player and one doubles team.

"At one time this year, I wondered if we would ever get close to West," said East coach Mike Thompson. "The sectional is the cream of the crop for us. To wind up half a point away isn't bad at all."

West's Kim Mulherin won the singles title, beating fellow sophomore Sarah Hardimon of East 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. It was Mulherin's fifth consecutive win against Thompson this season.

"I haven't lost to Sarah in three years, but she played really well today," Mulherin said. "When we were little, she used to always beat me."

I just calmed myself back down (for the third set). I was so fired up, I wanted to win the sectional since I lost last year to Kim and Kelly."

As a freshman, Mulherin and senior Holly Schaefer played in the doubles final against senior teammates Kim Noble and Kelly Barnet, who went on to win the title.

"I'D REALLY LIKE to get in the top 12 like we did last year in doubles," Mulherin said. "But my main goal is to win three matches in the main draw."

In the third-place doubles match, West senior Andrea Martin also had to rally from a mediocre second set to beat Althoff junior Annie Sauger 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

"I was upset that I lost the second set," Martin said. "I let my emotions out and the ball, bend your knees and try the best you can."

In Doubles, East seniors Kristen Stephenson and Maren Sydman claimed the sectional title with a 6-3, 7-5 win over West's Jill Christensen and Nancy Clinton.

"We were more focused," said Stephenson, who celebrated her 17th birthday on Saturday. "Our mental game was there more than when we played them last (See SECTIONAL, Page 3D)

I had lost to them twice and I had lost once with Maren. "We were coming to the set, hitting overheads and being aggressive. As far as state, I'm just happy to get there."

"Our main goal was to beat West," Suydam said. "That's what I've wanted to do my whole senior year."

EARLIER IN THE DAY, Stephenson and Suydam defeated Granite City's Marcy Holsinger and Stacy Rath after Holsinger and Rath won in the first round. Two other Lady Warriors, Debbie Engleke and Sabina Kumar, lost in the first round to Althoff's fourth. The sectional semifinals will be played at The Gauntlet on Oct. 28, and the finals will follow Oct. 30.

In the last match of the day, Althoff's Liz Klinge and Becky Halvachs beat East's Christina Covelli and Brea Phillips 2-4, 7-5 for third place in doubles. That clinched the team title for West.

"After Kristen (Haines) and Annie (Castello) were knocked out (with a quarterfinal loss to Klinge and Halvachs), I was a little concerned," Keefe said. "I thought they could potentially make the finals or get third place."

Mitchell group taking basketball sign-ups

The Mitchell Athletic Association will hold youth basketball sign-ups for boys and girls each Wednesday in October.

Registration for boys and girls in third through sixth grade will be held 6-8 p.m. on Wednesdays at Gene's Barber Shop, Lenox and E. Chain of Rocks Road. The cost is $15 per student and $30 per family.

For more information, call Larry Monroe at 797-1532 or Kevin Cripps at 931-6418.

Legacy scramble scheduled Saturday

The Legacy Golf Club will hold its scramble championship Saturday.

The times begin at 9 a.m. The cost of $200 per team covers 18 holes, cart, buffet and prizes. Prizes will be given for first through fourth place and closest to the pin at No. 8 and 15.

Economist cites reasons for sluggish economy

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

You've heard of Murphy's Law, the axiom that if something can go wrong, it will. That could explain the economy's sluggish performance from early 1989 through early 1993, says an economist at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Of course, economist David Brauer doesn't actually blame Murphy's Law. In dry economist fashion, he cites a laundry list of reasons for contributing to what he calls the weakest performance over any four-year period since the Great Depression.

His laundry list includes corporate downsizing, anemic consumer spending, low consumer and business confidence in the economy's future performance, overbuilding in the commercial and residential real estate sectors, changes in tax laws and more.

Plus, because the economy had grown faster than its long-term potential in 1987 and 1988, a slowdown was inevitable, Brauer says.

In short, whatever could go wrong with the U.S. economy did go wrong.

We won't pull out of the current economic malaise anytime soon, according to the results of a recent survey printed in "Blue Chip Economic Indicators." The newsletter asked 51 economists to predict 10 years into the future. Their consensus: Economic growth will average 2.6 percent a year, and unemployment will remain above 6 percent.

Brauer examined the 1990-91 recession (it began in July 1990 and ended in March 1991) and compared it with other recessions and subsequent recoveries. As recessions go, the most recent episode was about average and much less severe than the 1981-82 and 1975-76 downturns, Brauer wrote in "Quarterly Review," a publication of the New York Fed.

The recovery, however, has been unusually weak, he says. In fact, the upswing pales in comparison with other recoveries. For example:

- Gross domestic product (GDP), the value of all the goods and services produced here, didn't climb to its pre-downturn level for nine quarters. Three to six quarters is typical.
- Employment hadn't recovered through mid-1993, nearly three years after the pre-recession peak. Even worse, service-sector employment, a major engine in past recoveries (indeed, the number of service jobs continued to grow during previous recessions), didn't rise above that peak level for 21 months.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Oct. 20
The moon in Capricorn has a sobering influence, compelling you to take life more seriously than usual. But it can help you win big — if you're willing to be a player. If you're going on a job interview, be ready to play by the company's rules. Those interested in finding a place in the corporate world have a better chance of doing so.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Take stock of recent events, and make adjustments. You'd be wise to play your financial cards closer to the vest. Keep your perspective so desires will not turn into greed. Your sixth sense about business is accurate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Following through is more important than ever. You don't have to be a slave to your work in order to succeed. When in doubt, talk to someone who has wisdom. Age is no barrier to your becoming self-employed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You're better off sticking to tried-and-true methods, unless you work in the computer industry. Relationships grow with time and should not be rushed. If you decide college isn't for you, perhaps a trade school is.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Avoid allowing negative thought patterns to delay the success you so richly deserve. Houselighting may be an excellent way to earn extra money. Overcoming past hurts is the only thing blocking a new relationship.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Make sure that small expenditures don't add up to a huge bill. You can buy that choice piece of real estate for a reduced price. The more specific you are about your goals in life, the quicker they will manifest themselves.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 20). You're ready for a burst of ambition that gathers momentum as you move into next year. November brings spiritual realizations and resolution of mystifying relationship issues. December favors personal independence. In '94, balance work and pleasure. Romance comes in March and April, and July brings marriage opportunities. Decisiveness can lead to a promotion in February. Make practicalities top priority during May and September.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You discover new ways to add enjoyment to your life. Enjoy small pleasures — which may not be small in the end. Superiors have higher expectations and require you to go that extra mile. Use reasoning rather than force.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You're in the school of life today, learning, perhaps, about its harsh realities. Be productive without being compulsive. There's little time to waste on frivolous activities. Simply being alive makes it somehow all worthwhile.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Sturdy business alliances now serve you well, so don't hesitate to call for assistance if needed. Capricorn has an invaluable bit of wisdom to share with you. Sticking with your long-term plan is imperative if you want to succeed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Curb your expansive nature for today, and do as much as you can with existing resources. Learning how to pace yourself and your vast expenditures of energy will serve you as you come down the stretch.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You're in your element and fully aware of what needs to be done. What matters when achieving goals is what kind of person you become in the process. Be abundant enough to share resources.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Weird haircuts and apparel won't do if you're after a conservative business position. Instead, learn the dress code, and follow it. Keep your feet on the ground financially, and curb impulsive buying. Good things can happen.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The world can seem cruel and cold today, but you know there's more than meets the eye. It pays to talk with someone of experience. Relationships mellow, and challenges bring out the strength in everyone. Stay on track.

If you have two cars, using the more efficient one will help save two million gallons of gas a day —

Theater groups to perform adaptation of 'Mama' at SIUE

Unity Theatre Ensemble, Resident Theater Company, SIUE Katherine Dunham Center for the Performing Arts, will open its 1993-1994 production season with a dramatic adaptation of "Mama," a novel by prolific writer and widely acclaimed author, Terry McMillan.

The season opens Oct. 21-24 and 28-31 at the SIUE East St. Louis Center, 411 East Broadway in East St. Louis.

"Mama" is a story of survival against tremendous odds...of joblessness, hunger and the care of five growing children by a single mother...it's a story about a black mother's choices and the consequences of those choices made in order to keep her family together.

Performances will be held at the SIUE East St. Louis Center, (Metro Link's 5th and Missouri Stop) Library Studio Theater. Thursday through Saturday performances will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday performances will begin at 3 p.m.

Due to mature subject matter and strong language, this production is recommended for mature audiences only. Children under 15 must be accompanied by an adult. Reservations are recommended. For ticket information and reservations, call 482-6933.

Social Security benefits may be reduced if taken early

By Bill Hunot
Social Security Administration

Q. My husband is 66 and I am 60. He took his retirement benefits at 65. If I start getting Social Security at 62, will I receive one-half of his amount? Or must I wait until age 65 to start getting benefits? My own Social Security is much less than his.

A. Your potential benefit on your husband's Social Security is one-half of his full benefit. But to get that amount, you will have to wait until you reach 65 to start drawing it. If you take benefits before then, your monthly benefit will be permanently reduced. If you start receiving at the earliest option, age 62, you'll get only 75 percent of your unreduced amount which will be about 37.5 percent of your husband's benefit.

Q. My ex-husband died in 1987. Our marriage lasted 15 years. Is it true that I don't have to wait until age 60 to get Social Security benefits on his record because I am disabled?

A. The normal age requirement to get benefits as a surviving spouse is 60. But disabled surviving spouses can get benefits as early as 50.

Here are the requirements you must meet to get benefits: You must have been married to your ex-husband for at least 10 years.

You must be at least age 50. You must have become disabled within seven years of his death (or within seven years of drawing young widow's benefits from Social Security). And you can't be married to someone else.

Q. Will Medicare help pay for my podiatrist bills?

A. Medicare does help pay for some podiatry. For example, Medicare covers removal of plantar warts, which are abnormal growths that appear on the soles of the feet. However, Medicare usually will not pay for routine foot care such as hygienic care or the removal of corns, calluses and other warts. The exception is for patients who have severe medical problems (such as diabetes) with their legs. Routine foot care is covered for them if it must be done by a physician due to their medical condition.

Q. Are there any dental bills that Medicare will help pay for?

A. Very few dental services are covered by Medicare. It won't pay for routine care such as cleaning, fillings, extractions or dentures. It won't pay for more complicated procedures like root-canal work or surgery for impacted teeth.

Medicare does help pay for services of a dentist when a medical problem is more extensive than just the teeth and gums — for example, an injury to the jaw or other facial bone.

Medicare also will help pay for a hospital stay necessitated by a severe dental problem even if the dental procedure itself is not covered.

For more details about Medicare coverage, call 1-800-392-3070 in Missouri, or 1-800-642-6950 in Illinois.

This month in Social Security history: Payment of Social Security disability benefits to prisoners convicted of felonies was prohibited beginning Oct. 1, 1980. Payment of other Social Security benefits to prisoners was prohibited as of May 1983.

On Oct. 30, 1972, President Richard Nixon signed the 1972 Amendments to the Social Security Act. The amendments allowed payments to children on their grandparents' Social Security record if the child's parents were both disabled or deceased, provided for Medicare coverage for disabled people younger than 65 and established a care coverage for Supplemental Security Income (effective Jan. 1, 1974) that replaced the state-run assistance programs for the aged, blind and disabled. Optimum Protection With Winter Mulch by the experts at

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Winter's impending arrival is the signal to start protecting! And many things need to be protected. For example, not too many of us would let our vehicles try to make it through the winter without anti-freeze. People haul their boats out of the water well before it freezes. Those with pools don't leave them as they were in the summer. There are all sorts of things that need to be protected for winter!

As you may have guessed, we're about to talk about the plants, right? Close. We're going to discuss winter mulch. That's one of the most important factors in helping plants survive the onslaught of ice, frigid winds and sub-zero temperatures.

Winter mulch helps stabilize the soil temperature. This stops repeated freezing and thawing (called soil heaving), which can rip delicate plants and expose them to the harsh elements. A stabilized soil temperature also means that once the soil gets cold, it'll stay that way in most cases.

Ready for snow? Many people have other names for the white stuff, and some couldn't be printed here. Others love it. Whatever your feelings, snow can also be called mulch. That's right, snow is nature's winter mulch. It spreads out for you, it's free and it does a good job of insulating. Of course, there's no guarantee of when it'll come and how much we'll get, so providing some of your own mulch is a good idea.

Many of the items you'd normally use for mulch in summer will also work in winter. Pebbles, bark nuggets and shredded bark, for example, make excellent winter mulch. You can also use hay, straw, roping and shredded leaves. After Christmas, use tree boughs.

Apply winter mulches once you're sure the plants are going dormant, but make sure you do it before an injuring hard frost. A light covering of mulch won't help much. Spread a two to four-inch layer of the stuff over the soil. Be sure to cover the root zone of the plant. Never mound the mulch against trunks and stems of trees and shrubs. Leave a few inches of space between your mulch and the edge of the mulch to discourage rodents from gnawing on the bark.

Proper mulching for winter will give your plants the best chance of surviving until spring.

Don't Neglect The Birds!

If you've been feeding wild birds, make sure you continue to do so, especially with winter approaching. The birds have become accustomed to your feeder by now. If you absolutely must stop, try to do so gradually to give them a chance to find another food source.

Any time of year is a good time to begin feeding wild birds, so if you're considering it, everything you'll need is available at Frank's.

Frightening Things Ahead!

If you haven't seen Frank's great assortment of Halloween items, now's a good time to. Halloween decorating is fun for the whole family, especially the youngsters!
